Invasion Of Ruhr Awaits Action Of Supreme Council

France Is Ready to Act But It Is Probable Start Will Be Made May 15.

U. S. HAS MANY COURSES

America May Demand Representation at Allied Council Meeting Saturday.

By United Press Leased Wire

London.—Regardless of allied action on Germany's reparations proposals an invasion of the Ruhr probably will be delayed until May 15, it was learned here Friday

France is prepared for the invasion ready to act alone if the allies will give only their moral support, but is expected to await a decision by the supreme council, which meets Saturday

American thought was expected to dominate the supreme council. It was believed that the Harding administration might make recommendations in regard to the German offer which would determine the council's final action

Although both France and Great Britain officially condemned the German offer as inacceptable the British still clung to the hope that the United States would obtain a better offer from Berlin

Reports here and in Paris were that President Harding is endeavoring to have Germany submit a proposal for a larger indemnity and to make the provisions clearer

Five Possible Courses

Washington—Secretary of State Hughes Friday may put into execution a course which he is understood to have decided tentatively upon for the United States to follow in the reparations crisis

Despite the secrecy being observed the possible courses for Hughes to take now have become fairly well defined in the minds of observers here

The most drastic course is to make representations to France against the proposed occupation of the Ruhr with the implied threat that American forces on the Rhine would be withdrawn if the French armies advanced. Other courses that this government may take are

1—A note to all the principal allied powers urging negotiations be opened at once in a final effort to settle the reparations problem

2—A reply to Germany on that country's new proposals stating this government had brought the proposals to the attention of the allied powers who had rejected the proffer

May Send Delegate

3—Immediate resumption of American representation in the supreme allied council, in which it is contended that the United States still has a right to sit, so America will have a voice in the epochal session of the council beginning Saturday in London to determine whether the armies of France shall move into Germany or that Germany shall have another breathing spell

4—An aloof attitude by this government in which no positive action of any kind would be taken. In this case the state department would assume the attitude of merely an observer The moral influence of the United States could be used at any opportune moment, however.

Briand Starts for Meeting

Paris—"At least we are going to end it," Premier Briand of France declared as he boarded the train here Friday, starting for the meeting of the supreme allied council at London

Briand was accompanied by the supreme military chiefs of the republic, Marshal Foch Marshal Weygand and General Berthelot

They started for London determined to win approval of the other allied powers for their project of marching deeper into Germany and seizing the Ruhr coal basin

N-P LEADERS MUST SERVE JAIL TERMS

Supreme Court Upholds Conviction of Townley and Gilbert.

By United Press Leased Wire

St. Paul—The state supreme court Friday upheld the Jackson county court in the conviction of A. C. Townley, president, and Joseph Gilbert, former organizer of the National Non Partisan league.

They were charged with conspiracy to discourage enlistments during the war, found guilty and sentenced to serve 90 days each in the county jail. The case was appealed.

Meantime, Gilbert was convicted on another charge and is serving a sentence in the Red Wing jail.

Townley's case probably will be appealed.

Gilbert's case was before the state pardon board this week. It refused to grant a pardon or commutation of sentence

Conviction of Townley and Gilbert in the Jackson county court nearly a year ago furnished one of the most sensational trials in the history of the state.

GERMANY STILL HAS CHANCE TO CHANGE PROPOSAL

Differences Between Allies and Germany Hinge on Method of Payment.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1921, Post Pub. Co.

Washington—Germany still has an opportunity to modify her reparation proposals and make them satisfactory to the allies and thus preent occupation of the Ruhr

Although the United States government is not taking the initiative or adopting any course that might be construed as an effort to persuade Germany to change her proposals, nevertheless the cables and radio have conveyed to Berlin within the last 24 hours enough newspapers to let the Germans know their offer is unacceptable

The difference between the allies and Germany does not center on the amount to be paid but upon the terms and method of collection An error in the cabled text has been discovered which puts a different light on at least one important paragraph of the German proposal that which relates to unreproductive outlays ' The first version made it appear that the German government wanted to be rid of these outlays which are interpreted to mean the funds spent in sustaining the allied armies of occupation but the German government's official statement now says the note should have read that German business must be rid of "unreproductive outlays" and that the phrase refers to disadvantageous trade arrangements

Sanctions Clause

In any event, the most objection able clause in the German proposals is that which declares as a condition of payment that all penalties or "sanctions" must be removed The Germans declare officially in a supplementary statement made after the German proposal was made to Washington that this means only the penalties imposed by the recent London conference and does not involve in any way the sanctions provided by the Versailles treaty

Should these two important points be made in an official communication to the United States it may be that when the allies examine the entire proposition it may fall into the category of a "suitable basis" for discussion later on

The Germans have approximated the sums asked by the allies but as indicated by the British counter questions, everything depends upon the details of the proposal and not the general principles or vague promises of the German note

Secretary Hughes has the whole situation well in hand President Harding has so much confidence in him that he went off to Hampton Roads to review the Atlantic fleet and gave the secretary of state complete authority to go ahead without further reference to him

WILLIE, A REAL "HARD GUY," LANDS IN LOCKUP

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago—Willie Doody's career as a "hard guy" was over Friday.

Willie, 18, following his arrest, confessed he was the "master mind" of a band of criminals who have terrorized Chicago and vicinity.

"They were all 'men' about my age," said Willie.

Some of the crimes Willie takes "credit" for are:

The fiasco holdup of the Cicero, Illinois, state bank.

The $12,000 robbery of the Summit State bank.

Shooting of a policeman.

Numerous holdups of gas filling stations.

KIMBERLY-CLARK CO. MILL COUNCL CUTS ALL WAGES

Pay After May 1 Will Be Same Basis as Feb. 1, 1920. All Affected.

Salaries of all employes of the Kimberly-Clark Co, from the chief executive down will be reduced to the basis of pay on Feb 1, 1920, effective May 1 1921, it was decided at a meeting of the general mill council at Neenah Friday The reductions range from 15 to 20 per cent but in no case do they exceed 20 per cent. Falling price of paper and high production costs prompted the decrease, it was said

The following official statement relative to the wage reduction was issued from the Kimberly-Clark company's office following the meeting of the general mill council:

"At a meeting of the general mill council of the Kimberly-Clark company, held in Neenah, Wisconsin, April 29, 1921, at which were present representatives from all of the mills of the company, including Niagara Falls, New York, the company presented facts and figures to show that it was necessary to reduce wages and salaries, effective as of May 1, 1921.

"After a lengthy consideration of the reduced cost of living on the one hand, and the reduction in the market value of the company's product on the other hand, it was finally decided that all wages, and salaries, covering all employes from the chief executive down, be placed on the same basis as existed February 1, 1920. These reductions run from 15 to 20 per cent, but in no case greater than 20 per cent to any one person."

NATIONAL C. OF C. FAVORS SALES TAX

By United Press Leased Wire

Atlantic City, N. J.—A federal sales tax will receive the support of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, it was indicated at the annual convention of that body here Friday.

The delegates voted on the proposition, a majority of the members favoring the tax.

Edward N. Hurley, former chairman of the United States shipping board, said in an address that a third of American farmhouses now have electrically operated vacuum cleaners, flatirons and other household labor saving devices.

This, he said, should tend to make farm life more bearable and stop the drift of population to the cities, thus lowering food prices.

Federal Agents Aid Police Authorities in Preparing for May Day Demonstrations by Radicals.

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago—Tons of literature calling for a "red" May day in Chicago and vicinity were seized by federal authorities Friday.

The circulars were signed by the central committee of the communist party of America and called for overthrow of the government

Two men were arrested in Chicago Friday in connection with the distribution of the pamphlets Three federal agents were sent to Hammond Ind., where "red" literature was being distributed.

Arrest 4 in Milwaukee

Milwaukee—Four alleged "reds" thought to have circulated circulars calling for a May day revolution against the United States government, were in custody of federal authorities here Friday

Names of those held were withheld from publication. It was said steps are being taken to deport the men.

Officials here are investigating reports of threatened trouble at an American parade here Monday, winding up a membership and Americanization campaign

Guard Public Buildings

New York—Warned by a flood of radical literature, police authorities Friday established "May day" guards about public buildings to prevent Red uprisings.

The extra guards will be retained until Monday.

In addition the entire police force was instructed to be extra vigilant Public buildings, public utilities and homes and offices of leading officials and financiers were put under protection.

WAIT ANOTHER YEAR FOR SOLDIER BONUS

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington.—The soldiers bonus bill seems out of luck at this session of congress. Indications became clear Friday that the measure cannot pass for several months and even then it will mean little to the buddie who wants the cash.

No revenue raising provisions are provided and the bonus couldn't be paid for lack of funds, even with the present bill enacted.

The plan now is not to make the bonus effective until June, 1922, and members are worried over how the necessary revenue is to be raised then.

This does not mean a disinclination in congress to grant the bonus and to do whatever is possible for world war veterans. The difficulty is that no member of either the house or senate has yet been able to propose a plan for raising the money—from $1,500,000,000 to $5,000,000,000—without also raising taxes.

County Board Agrees To Pave Brickyard-Rd

Through the efforts of the special committee appointed by Mayor J. A Hawes which was given a hearing before the county board Saturday morning, the supevisors decided to pave the brickyard road and into the city on Carver-st. as requested by the common council and passed a resolution appropriating the necessary funds Among those who addressed the board were Mayor J. A. Hawes, City Engineer O. F. Weisgerber, Postmaster Gustav Keller, Alderman A W Laabs, John Conway, John R Diderrich, A. G. Brusewitz and others

It was brought out during the hearing that $20,000 was set aside during the war for paving the highway and that the contract was awarded and road torn up, but that the contractor could get no further for the reason he was unable to get cement and forfeited the contract. The road was left in this condition and at times is almost impassable. An appropriation of $24,000 in addition to the $20,000 available was needed to complete the work and a resolution carrying this amount was passed by a vote of 26 to 3. Two members were absent.

Another highway in a deplorable condition and for which an appropriation of $20,000 was asked is a mile gap of the Freedom Kaukauna road which it was also decided to pave.

Get More Aid

Dr C. D Boyd of Kaukauna made a suggestion that the Outagamie county sanitorium be made a tri-county institution which would make it more efficient as it would then have more funds with which to carry on its work. Greater equipment and additional room are needed and when asked what counties he had in mind suggested Shawano and Oconto. The matter was referred to the sanitorium committee.

The charges brought against Herman J. Kamps, county clerk, and Louis A Peterson, treasurer, preferred by the American Legion, was made a special order for 9 o'clock Saturday morning

Supervisor Anton Jansen of Little Chute inquired if Outagamie had a county nurse, and if so why she had not called on their private school. He said he was aware that she had visited all the schools in that part of the county, but understood she had not called at the parochial school He was informed that she undoubtedly would call upon the school if notified

Chairman Ryan announced that Joseph T. Doerfler of Kimberly was absent from the session by reason of the death of a child in his family.

A resolution appropriating $65,000 needed for the road work planned was laid over until Saturday morning in order to give the district attorney an opportunity to look up the law on certain matters concerning it.

An appropriation of $5,500 to complete the entrance to the asylum grounds was referred to the county, state road and bridge committee.

The reports of the finance committee, which included the auditors' report and the reports of the committees on sheriff's accounts, printing, grounds and buildings, and justice and constable accounts were adopted

Three Crimes Are Solved By Police With Arrest Of Pair Of Appleton Youths

Roman LaFond and James Gruenes Lodged in Jail Charged With Burglary.

IDENTIFIED AS HOLDUP MEN

Admit Stealing Automobile From Neenah Garage—Have Loot From Racine.

Three recent crimes, the Neenah taxicab holdup, theft of an automobile from a Neenah garage and burglary of Armory G, have been solved with the arrest of Roman LaFond, 18, and James Gruenes, 23 by Chief George T Prim and Detective John Duvall.

The youths were arraigned before Judge A. M Spencer Thursday afternoon and in default of furnishing bonds of $1 500 were placed in the county jail Their cases will be scheduled later, pending further investigation.

Identification of these two youths with all three cases came as the result of a search for thieves who entered the armory Tuesday evening. Two lockers were pried open in the captain's quarters, and it is alleged that two 45-caliber Colt revolvers and five cartridge clips were stolen. The officers obtained evidence by which suspicion was placed on LaFond and Gruenes A search of the latter's home at 1024 Franklin-st. resulted in the finding of the revolvers.

Admit Stealing Car

One of the men admitted during questioning by Chief Prim that he and several others broke into the Motor Inn, Neenah, between 12 and 1 o'clock Tuesday morning and took the Paige automobile owned by Herman Kramp, Neenah They forced the sliding doors onward in such a way as to break the catch. They tried to take a large touring car standing in the doorway but were unable to start it. This machine was moved out of the way and the Kramp car taken They rode around for several hours and then abandoned it on Harris st.

Quizzing also revealed that a holdup was intended at the time the Kramp car was stolen, because one of the group attempted to borrow a revolver from a friend in Appleton. He said he was broke, and intended to go out and get money by force.

Chief Prim saw a chance of possible association of these escapades with the holdup of William Krieg, Neenah taxicab driver on the night of Wednesday, April 20, on the west road from Neenah to Terrace Gardens. He took one of the youths to Neenah but could establish no connection of the crimes Krieg and another witness who had seen the men previously then came to Appleton. Krieg identified Gruenes as the man who had pointed the revolver at him, and the other witness identified LaFond as a member of the holdup party

Only the burglary charge was lodged against the pair, and their trial is to be scheduled later.

Shortly before noon Friday Chief Prim verified his suspicions that the boys were connected with the theft of a bowling ball case from Racine when he talked with Dr. J. T Olsen of that city. A canvas case with Dr. Olson's name printed on it was found in the LaFond home. Dr. Olsen said it had been stolen from Elk club in Racine.

400 IMMIGRANTS ON STEAMER WHEN IT STRIKES REEF

Portuguese Vessel Runs on Rock Off Boston Harbor During Heavy Fog.

By United Press Leased Wire

Boston—The Portuguese steamer Mormugao, which ran aground in a heavy fog on the southwest tip of Block island early Friday is resting on rocks and not in immediate danger, according to wireless reports reaching here

Reports said high tide may float the vessel, on which are more than 400 Portuguese immigrants Tugs and wrecking crews have gone to the ship's aid, however. Coast guards are now standing by

The forward hold is said to be filled with water and some of seams are leaking Although the passengers are calm, it is expected they will be removed during the afternoon

Three hundred of the passengers are bound for California to work in orchards. One hundred are enroute to New Bedford and the remainder are on their way to New York

There was danger of panic when the vessel struck, while feeling her way through the fog Most of the passengers were asleep when she drove her nose onto the low shelf of rocks off the point They rushed to the decks without waiting to dress but were calmed by the officers and crew

The first warning the coast guards had of the Mormugao's plight was just before daybreak when they heard the frantic wails of her siren The sea was heavy and a dense fog hid the vessel from shore.

The guards put off in lifeboats and guided by the distress signals, finally located her.

PANAMA GETS WARM NOTE FROM HUGHES

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington. — Secretary of State Hughes has sent another note to Panama on that country's refusal to accept the award of Chief Justice White on the boundary dispute with Costa Rica, it was learned Friday at the state department.

In view of the repeated refusals of Panama to accept the White award, the latest note from Hughes may be in the nature of a final ultimatum to bring Panama to terms, it was believed

The present Hughes note is understood to state finally the unequivocal position of the United States and that Panama must accept the White award and that this government stands back of the award with all necessary force

FIGHT OVER SIZE OF ARMY STARTS IN HOUSE

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington—The annual fight over the size of the army broke out in the house Friday.

As reported, the army appropriation bill provides that the average size of the army shall be 168,000.

Secretary of War Weeks has urged that this figure be raised to 175,000 because of the difficulties in reducing the present army of more than 200,000

Representative Julius Kahn, California, chairman of the military affairs committee who always advocated a strong army, led the fight to comply with Week's recommendation.

SEAMEN APPEAL TO HARDING TO PREVENT STRIKE

Workers' Representatives Break From Conference With Ship Owners.

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington—Marine workers' representatives breaking away from a conference with ship owners and Admiral Benson Friday went directly to the White House to ask President Harding to intervene and prevent a seamen's strike.

The offer to let President Harding decide the whole wage and working conditions dispute was dramatically made by Andrew Furuseth, seamen's leader, after one proposition after another made by the seamen had been rejected by the ship owners or by Admiral Benson.

"We offer to put the whole question unreservedly up to the president and marine unions will abide absolutely by his decision," declared Furuseth.

Boost Living Costs

New York—The cost of living would be immediately increased by the seamen's strike, scheduled for Monday, according to P H W. Ross, president of the National Marine league.

The league head, regarded as one of the foremost authorities on shipping matters, declared that the strike, besides paralyzing American commerce, would increase unemployment in other industries

"Labor cannot be employed unless its products can be marketed abroad, said Ross.

"Ships must be used to do this Consequently seamen serve their employers only incidentally, their real service is to the land labor employed by manufacturers, farmers and other branches of transportation."

The government should be permitted to adjust the present difference between seamen and owners, thus averting the threatened strike, Ross declared.

POLICE CHIEF IS SLAIN BY PROWLER

Rifle Bullet Is Answer to Officers Question to a Stranger.

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago.—Two women in an auto answering the description of the machine in which the murderer of Police Chief George Rehm of West Chicago, fled early Friday, were arrested at St. Charles Ill., late Friday.

The women were alone when taken into custody. Their names were not made public pending questioning by officials. The slayer was not found.

Chicago—George Rehm, chief of police of West Chicago, was shot and killed by an unidentified man early Friday, and James Schners, the chief's companion, seriously wounded.

Rehm and Schners had just directed two women in an auto how to get to St. Charles, Ill., and crossed the street, meeting a stranger.

'Where are you going?" the chief asked.

Several revolver shots was the answer.

Investigation showed that the mysterious prowler escaped in the car of the two women who were directed by the chief.

Posses were organized at once by Sheriff George Leineke of Dupage county. Armed men rushed from all surrounding towns to aid in the capture of the killer. Word was flashed to Chicago and rifle squads are touring surrounding towns

Two theories about the women have been advanced One was that they were the man's companions, who was in West Chicago to commit a robbery. The other was that the man threatened the two women if they did not help him escape

The man who did the shooting is about 30 years, six feet tall, with curly black hair.

RIGHT KIND OF A START NECESSARY TO GAIN SUCCESS

Record Breaking Crowd Attends Evangelistic Service Thursday Night.

All week night attendance records were broken last night at the McCombe-Clase meetings in Lawrence chapel and the unique program fully measured up to the size of the audience. One of the most striking features that Mr. H. C. Clase has used in connection with a song service was introduced with the singing of "Signal Lights" by the chorus choir. In the midst of the singing every light in the house went out and the one hundred people in the chorus swung colored flash lights in time with the music, green giving place in an instant to while and white to red and then all three colors appearing at once, like a hundred huge fire-flies. The audience manifested its delight by tremendous applause.

Last night was college and business women's night. Large delegations filled the special seats reserved for them and business women and Lawrence students punctuated the song service with their own songs and yells. Considerable amusement was aroused when two or three of the preachers, at Mr. Clase's invitation, gave their old college yells. The program was also featured by a splendid duet by Mr. and Mrs. Clase. "Who Could It Be?" and a humerous recitation by Mr. Clase in which he paid tribute to the long-suffering ladies aid societies of the churches.

The great "Double Cross" service will be introduced tonight. Last Friday evening a large part of the service was conducted by the light of a cross studded with incandescent lamps. Tonight two crosses will be used and there will be features on the program which no one has seen before, but which cannot be announced without taking from their effectiveness. On Saturday evening the "Cheerful Boosters", an organization of some 400 children who meet every Wednesday and Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Clase, will present a concert. It will be one of the most unusual meetings of a series in which there are no repetitions, and will undoubtedly draw a large crowd. There will be a union service at 11 a. m. on Sunday; a mass meeting for men in the chapel at 3 p. m. a women's meeting in First Methodist church at the same hour, a union young people's meeting in the Presbyterian church at 6:30 and a great evangelistic meeting in the chapel at 7:30. Dr. J. H. McCombe will speak at the men's meeting on "The Sins of Men." Boys under 13 will not be admitted unless accompanied by their fathers. Mrs McCombe will speak at the meeting for women, her subject being "A Woman's Answer to a Man's Question."

Dr. McCombe delivered a masterly address last night, intended especially for young people, on "The Price of Success." His scripture basis was Daniel I, 8, "Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself." He described Daniel as a country boy who was set down in a great city and ridiculed because of his simple living.

"I had rather be born in the country with good blood in my veins," said the speaker, "than in the city and have corrupt blood. Daniel was advised to accommodate himself to city ways, but stood for his high principles. Do not think that, because you are in Rome, you have to do as the Romans do.

"Ninety-nine per cent of life's failures are due to a poor start. Every athlete knows that. Every bite he eats, every drop he drinks is to make him 'fit.' The winner of a great race wins because he keeps himself fit and gets away to a good start. That is what Daniel did. This is true in life as well as in athletics. The first gambling, the first step into sin of any kind means a poor start. The average age of the men in Auburn prison is only 22 years. It shows a bad start.

"Daniel was a young man of purpose. There was no difficulty too great for him to surmount. He knew and knew that he knew: that is the mark of a wise man—the kind of a man to follow. Some young folks complain because they have to start life without a good equipment, but we should remember that poverty is no barrier. Barriers have never yet been erected which shall say to aspiring talent 'Thus far shalt thou go and no farther.' Men who have attained fame have been men who have grappled wit hadversity and overcome it. There is no more thrilling page in all the world's history than the one which tells of those who emerged from obscurity into wealth, fame and position. Noah Webster, Sir Walter Scott, Richard Arkwright, P. T. Barnum, Sir Humphrey Davy, Thomas Edison are stirring examples. There is no failure save in giving up; there is no defeat save from within. Daniel succeeded, finally, because he believed in prayer."

The speaker then described in a most dramatic way the plot to overthrow Daniel his escape from the lions' den and the death of his enemies and Daniel's triumph, the latter the result of his loyalty to God.

"I had rather lie in a cell in the state prison," he said, "knowing myself innocent, than walk the streets of Appleton knowing that I was guilty. Consider the boomerang of sin. We are not bright enough to cheat God and get away with it. I would not give a sack of peanuts for a death-bed repentance. Jesus Christ not only died for us but also lived to teach us how to live. The enemies of Daniel died, but Daniel lives and we shall live if we get away to a good start, overcome our adversities and lead clean, godly lives."

Dr. O. W Taylor of Kenosha, spoke a farewell word to the audience in which he voiced his conviction that this campaign would count for the lifting of the cause of Christianity in every church in Appleton, both Protestant and Catholic.

The McCombe-Clase party carry on an exceedingly heavy program. Today they lead various prayer meetings at 10 o'clock, conduct a shop meeting at the vocational school at noon, an afternoon meeting for friends on the edge of town who cannot get in for the morning prayer meetings, a meeting for high school girls at Bushey business college at 3:45, a meeting for college girls and a meeting of personal workers at 6:45.

COLLEGE WOMEN CHANGE NAME OF ORGANIZATION

Dr. Frances Foster of the faculty of Lawrence college and Miss Carrie Morgan, city superintendent of schools, represented the local chapter of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae at the state convention Saturday in Milwaukee.

A report from the national convention at Washington, D. C., was given by the national president. The name of the organization has been changed to the American Association of University Women. A temporary state organization was formed which will be able to influence the passage of state bills.

Delegates were present from Oshkosh, Beloit, Milwaukee, Kenosha and Madison. It is expected that new chapters will be organized in other places.

By changing the name, the organization has put itself on the same level with a similar organization in England and this was thought to be an advantage.

MRS. SCHEWE IS NOW A PICTURE OF HEALTH

Milwaukee Woman Ached All Over From Rheumatism And Says Nothing Reached Her Case Until She Got Tanlac.

"I certainly know what it means now to enjoy life and health and I hae Tanlac to thank for it all," declared Mrs. Johanna Schewe, 437 American Ave., Milwaukee, Wis.

"I had stomach trouble for seven years and suffered more than anyone can know. I could taste what I ate sometimes for hours afterwards, and I suffered no end of distress after every meal. My heart would palpitate dreadfully and at times I became so smothery and choked up I had sinking spells and felt like I was going to die. My color was bad and my tongue seemed to stay coated all the time.

"I had rheumatism all over my body, especially in my right side and arm. The muscles just ached and ached and the joints in my elbow and wrist were so stiff I could hardly use my hand. It was almost impossible for me to get my right arm away from my side. I couldn't sow or darn or even write my name. At night I could hardly sleep at all and the pains were so severe I was unable to turn over in bed.

"But now it's a different story. To look at me now you couldn't tell I was ever sick a day in my life. Why, I haven't a particle of stomach trouble or rheumatism and can use my right arm as good as I ever could. I do all my housework now, sleep as sound as a child and just feel well and happy. I feel duty bound to do what I can to tell others about Tanlac. It certainly is a grand medicine."

WORLD FAMOUS ARTISTS HERE NEXT SEASON

Community Artist Series Committee Arranges Program for 1921-22.

Almost on the heels of the 1920-1921 season of the Appleton Community Artist and Lecture series, the most successful since the plan of providing community entertainment was started here, comes announcement of the course for 1921 and 1922. The program committee completed its work early this week and the new course was announced Friday morning. It is said to be far superior to any offered thus far and will bring several of the most noted lecturers and artists in America to Appleton.

Preparation of this course was one of the last tasks in Appleton of H. B. Frame, secretary of the community association, who leaves the employ of the Y. M. C. A. in a few days to take up a new work in Milwaukee.

The 1921-1922 course will represent an expenditure of about $700 more than the series just ended. This means that several hundred more tickets must be sold to meet expenses. The program committee, however, feels that the general excellence of the program assures the support of Appleton people.

The program probably will open with a piano concert by Ignaz Friedman, a Polish artist who is ranked with Paderewski. Mr. Friedman made his first American tour this year and immediately was proclaimed one of the greatest living pianists.

Friedman was born in Poland and at the age of three years he showed such a marked aptitude for the piano that he began taking lessons. At eight he was considered a prodigy and soon after toured Europe as the child wonder. Recently he toured South America where he was given a wonderful reception. He is considered one of the outstanding artists on the program.

Famous Soprana

Marie Rappold, soprano for the Metropolitan Opera company of New York, will appear here in a concert. Miss Rappold has made several American tours and is one of the most welcome singers on the concert stage. She has played leading roles in many New York operas where she achieved wonderful success. Among the roles she has taken are Aida, Desdemona in "Othello"; Leonora in "Il Trovatore"; "Marguerite in "Faust"; Venus and Elizabeth in "Tannhauser."

Appleton people will be particularly interested in the announcement that Alberto Salvi, world's greatest harpist will return to Appleton. A few years ago Salvi, only a boy, appeared in a concert here and astonished local music lovers with his wonderful art. He was the guest of Appleton friends for a few days and has many acquaintances here. Since that time he has developed into the world's greatest harpist and his concerts are creating sensations everywhere. One critic said he never again expects to hear playing like Salvi's until he gets to heaven.

American Tenor

Few American tenors have achieved the instantaneous success which fell to the lot of Mario Chamlee, a native of California, who is booked for Appleton. Chamlee made his first appearance on the operatic stage in New York in "Tosca" and the next morning critics went into spasms of delight in their descriptions of his marvelous work. Chamlee comes here recommended as one of the world's greatest tenors and is entitled to the sobriquet of "a young Caruso."

Music lovers who remember the sensation created by the Flonzaley quartet which appeared here two years ago will be glad to know that the London String quartet, said to be an organization in the same class as the Flonzaley's has been secured for the course. This quartet was organized in England and is said to be the equal of any string organization formed in recent years. It was secured for Appleton only because it had been booked for Milwaukee on Feb. 12, 1922, and will appear here the day before or the day after.

Charles Renn Kennedy and Edith Wynne Matthison (Mrs. Kennedy), two of the most famous dramatic impersonators in the world, will present interpretations of several masterpieces. Mr. Kennedy for many years was one of the leading exponents of Shakesperian roles but retired from the stage a few years ago to devote himself to literature and dramatics. He is an author and playwright as well as an impersonator. Mrs. Kennedy has had the distinction of playing with Sir Henry Irving, one of the greatest actors the world has ever known, in several Shakesperian productions. She achieved her greatest success as Portia in "The Merchant of Venus."

"America the Beautiful" probably will be the subject of a lecture by Lorado Taft, Chicago, recognized as one of the greatest sculptors in the world. Mr. Taft is a native of Illinois but spent many years sudying in Europe. His work includes several statutes of Lincoln which are regarded as masterpieces. He has been an instructor in the Chicago Art institute for more than 30 years. His studio on the Midway in Chicago is one of the show places of the Windy city.

The author of "The Houseboat on the Styx"—John Kendrick Bangs—is sure to tickle Appleton ribs with his humor. He is the only humorist scheduled for the course and the program committee made a wise selection. Mr. Bangs has a worldwide reputation as a lecturer and an author and should attract a capacity audience.

For those who like travel pictures and stories of interesting experiences, the lecture by Carl Akely, one of the most noted big game hunters in the world, will have a special appeal. Mr. Akely will show 2,000 feet of motion pictures descriptive of big game hunting in Africa in connection with his lecture. He leaves within the next week or two for Africa, returning next March or April, thus assuring Appleton people something entirely new when he comes here early in the spring.

Bishop Charles W. Burns of the Helena area of the Methodist church, probably the most noted pulpit orator of the denomination in America, will give an inspirational lecture. Bishop Burns, formerly pastor of the Hennipin-ave. church in Minneapolis, was the first man from the middlewest to be elected bishop in the Methodist church. His area includes Montana, North Dakota and part of Idaho.

WHERE BRITISH INTEREST LIES

Great Britain was given some very good advice the other day by Premier Hughes of Australia, in an address to the house of representatives at Melbourne. Referring to the Anglo-Japanese treaty, which expires soon and whose renewal is now under consideration, he said:

I have said repeatedly that the chief problem before Great Britain is to draw up a treaty which will not involve us or Britain in a struggle with the people of the United States. The hope of the world depends upon some sort of an understanding between America and the empire, and it is to find a way of realizing that hope that the minds of those attending the imperial conference should be directed.

It is unthinkable and not within the bounds of possibility that we should ever take part in a struggle against America. We cannot be bound by any treaty which we do not ourselves ratify, although the practical consequences of war between Britain and America, whether Japan was or was not her ally, would of course have to be faced by us. But even if this treaty be renewed it will not bind Australia to go to war with any country in the world.

The present treaty is generally considered in America as obligating Great Britain to support Japan if Japan gets into war with this country. British statesmen during the past year have explicitly denied that interpretation. It is obviously the view in Australia, at least, that any trouble between Japan and America might seriously involve Great Britain under the terms of the existing agreement. The last thing that any British government would want, adds Premier Hughes, would be "war with the only nation which, with ourselves, could hope to maintain the peace of the world." He holds, however, that while he has no disposition to quarrel with Japan, "an understanding with America is essential," for the welfare of the whole British empire.

Many leaders of thought in this country believe that an understanding with Great Britain is likewise desirable for American interests, though not so essential for us as for Britain herself. It is deeply significant that the outlying parts of the British empire should take this position. The view of Premier Hughes should carry much weight in the imperial conference that is soon to be held, to determine this and other important matters of British policy. If English statesmen are wise, they will heed the spokesmen of Australia, South Africa, Canada and the other dominions, and link their destinies, as far as that is possible, with the United States rather than with Japan.

THE BLUE LAW SCARE

The widespread apprehension of wholesale blue laws curtailing smoking and every human pleasure is unnecessary. The board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church is sponsor for the statement.

According to a report issued by the board, the great reform organizations of the country are not seeking to prevent adults from smoking if they choose, nor are they attempting to secure a national Sunday law of any kind. Their concerted effort will be directed toward education of the public generally in the harmful effects of tobacco, and in making adequate laws to prevent its sale in any form to minors. Their activities for Sunday reform will be educational and suggestive rather than compulsory.

"It is time," observes the report, "that misrepresentations of reform organizations should cease." Among the associations whose intent is characterized as reasonable, in spite of contrary impressions, are the W. C. T. U., International Reform bureau, Southern Co-operative league and National Reform association.

If reform is not to be made offensive and unreasonable, it is only fair that the type of enjoyment which provokes reform should be governed reasonably by individuals and organizations. Smokers and Sunday pleasure seekers seldom hear from reformers until they have become a public nuisance.

NEXT WINTER'S COAL

Coal men and transportation men agree that the coal trade is flat on its back. Mines are closed down and gondola cars are standing empty on the sidings because there is no market outlet. The Railway Age says:

If present tendencies in the production and transportation of coal are not speedily changed the American people within a few months will be confronted with the most serious danger of coal famine ever known. The main reason for this reduction, as shown by the reports of the United States Geological Surey, is "no market." Consumers and dealers won't buy. The most varied and bitter experience does not seem to teach the American people anything regarding transportation matters.

The situation demands the immediate attention of coal consumers, dealers and operators, railway officers and the interstate commerce commission. There has been a plethora of propaganda in the past because the railroads could not handle enough coal when the people wanted it. There is need to make all concerned understand now that if the railways are not soon given an opportunity to haul more coal the coal situation developing will be far more acute than any previously experienced.

This buyers' strike is a natural sequence to the period of profiteering on the part of the producers and brokers when they had the whip hand. That coal consumers are not as yet relenting indicates that they believe the bottom price of fuel has not been reached or that the excessive shipping rate will be reduced by congressional action.

But there is such a thing as intelligent self-interest. Freight rates will not drop over night nor probably for several months. Coal may be cheaper, but, on the other hand, if everybody waits until the last moment before going into the market it will take a jump skyward. Common prudence and foresight would suggest that consumers, both commercial and domestic, lay in a portion at least of their next winter's supply now. They may gain a little or lose a little by doing it, but the latter is better than facing empty bins and a coal famine when cold weather arrives.

THE CITY CAMP

A municipal camp, to be operated on a cost basis, has been made available for all the citizens of Oakland, California, for the coming vacation season. The camp site is located about 152 miles from Oakland, in Stanislaus national forest. It has been turned over to the city authorities by the United States forest service.

Floored tents, electrically lighted, cots and mattresses, food service and athletic equipment are planned for the coming season. Even transportation by truck will be provided, because railroad transportation is quite expensive. The trip can be made in two stages, with one over-night stop at a smaller camp. There will be an opportunity for little side trips, such as a visit to Yosemite valley, just 32 miles away, as well as hiking, horseback riding and the usual camping fun. It is hoped that the cost may be kept at a comparatively low figure. In order to do this every camper will be expected to give an average of one hour's service a day.

The idea of a municipal camp or recreation ground located near a city is growing in favor and practice. Oakland had an experimental camp last year. Some other cities have undertaken similar plans on a smaller scale. It is a very fine activity for a city to engage in. Many persons who would enjoy such vacations are unable to seek them for themselves because of expense or ignorance of the way to go about it. Municipal camps, properly managed, can play a big part in maintaining the health and optimism of a city's inhabitants.

The recreation ground in forest or mountains, however, should not hinder in any way the development of parks and playgrounds within or near a city's limits. Fresh air and sunshine and a chance to play and rest out of doors should not be confined to two vacation weeks a year.

LOST!

By Berton Braley

Sins of commission I don't feel so bad about
They weren't so wicked or vicious or black;
Sins of omission are those I feel sad about
When I consider my life, looking back;
Things that I thought of, the things that I meant to do
Then never started; they make quite a list,
Few are the deeds I have done I'd repent to do,
What I regret are the things that I missed.

Roads still untraveled, adventures I've dreamed about
Cities and countries I swore I would know
Chances and deals I have worried and schemed about,
Only, faint-hearted, to let them all go;
Friends whom I might have won had I been jollier,
Strangers unwelcomed and maidens unkissed,
These make my thoughts grow a heap melancholier
What I regret are the things that I missed!

I weep for parties that I wasn't present at,
Games that I didn't have courage to play;
Maybe a puritan wouldn't look pleasant at
What I have done; but I'm willing to say
'Tisn't the sins of commission I fret about
No, I quite sternly and firmly insist,
That I am spilling my tears of regret about
All of the love, work and laughter I've missed!

KIDS, HOW ARE YOU BITING?

If I had a regular kid—I'm an unlucky man, for I have nothing but children—but if I had a kid of my own I'd train him to bite well. I've a pretty firm conviction that the kid who can bite perfectly can fight his own way in life. Theodore Roosevelt knew how to bite well, and what a great fighter he was! General Pershing isn't weak about the jaws, and he can fight some! I could if I would name some people who had a wonderful start and a great opportunity but failed "to put it over"—people who didn't bite well, some defect of the teeth and jaw development.

I'd want my kid to crack nuts with his teeth. I'd want him to take his 'taters with the hides on. I'd want him to spread plenty of crude brown sugar on his bread and butter, and for breakfast I'd want him to put the kibosh on a generous dish of plain undoctored wheat, cooked from twenty minutes to three hours, with plenty of fresh milk or cream, and brown sugar on. And if my kid hankered after raw potato, or raw carrots, or green apples, I'd pat him on the back and say: "Son, it's your tummy—go to it!" Likewise if my regular kid wanted to go in swimming three times hand running on a hot, dry, cold or moist day in June, April, October or August, or if he wanted to leave off his woolen underwear or his shoes and stockings or his overcoat in March or December or May or October, I'd say: "Sure." Of course that wouldn't be on account of his biting, but just to keep the kid from becoming a mollycoddle.

But it isn't just what a kid eats or how he eats it that determines how well he shall bite. The other day I saw a child nineteen years old who had started in when she was a baby sucking her thumb and kept it up all her life. Her thumb was badly deformed, but that was of no serious importance. The serious deformity was in her jaws. The upper front teeth were pushed forward and separated; the lower teeth were pushed inward and overlapped; so when the poor child tried to bite, her teeth were still about three quarters of an inch apart in front, whereas the upper front teeth should just overlap the lower front ones with practically no space between them when the jaws are closed. Of course the child was a sickly, poorly developed specimen, although the teeth may still be brought into fair position by the skill of modern dentistry.

If such a slight force or pressure as that of a thumb in the mouth can push the teeth and jaws out of position like that, an equally slight force or pressure can push them back into proper position when they are deformed, though it takes one or two years to accomplish this in most cases between the ages of eight and eighteen.

Certainly every kid is born with a fair to middling tooth and jaw foundation, and it is his own fault, or his parents' or his teacher's, or his doctor's, or his dentist's, if his teeth and jaws are permitted to go wrong.

The Way to Keep Teeth Clean

I am not saying a word about the toothbrush or cleaning the teeth. That isn't of much importance, in my judgment. I wouldn't care whether my kid ever brushed his teeth or not. Brushing isn't necessary for the perfect preservation of the teeth, I know, for I once had a young horse who never was known to use a toothbrush or any soap or medicated soap called a dentrifice, yet she had absolutely perfect teeth. I know a fine dog that never thinks of brushing his teeth, yet his teeth are as clean as any hound's tooth and as sound. Down in the sunny South, in sugar cane country, little pickaninnies, who never saw a toothbrush or a dentrifice suck sugar cane all day and have beautifully regular, perfect teeth.

They chew sugar cane, which is a fine way of cleaning the teeth. Most of the little Italian kids coming to this country as immigrants, or born here while their parents still adhere to their peasant food—which is rough and wholesome—have wonderfully fine, white, even, hard teeth that bite perfectly. It takes some years or our denaturized, overrefined, mollycoddled bread, sugar, and other sadly doctored staples of the diet to spoil those good teeth. So I say I should want my kid to have wholesome, undoctored, unrefined, natural things to eat, things that not only clean the teeth that chew them, but furnish the mineral matter needed to build and strengthen those teeth. And the kid could use his toothbrush to polish his shoes, for all of me.

We'd have a real chewing match at every meal, my kid and I. We'd have no dinner without some head lettuce or ordinary lettuce, or some raw cabbage (cold slaw) or celery, or beet greens or other greens, or raw onions, or asparagus, or something raw or green and fresh to chew on. Of course we'd top off with some puddin' or pie or ice cream or something, but there'd always be chaw stuff for dinner. And cleaning and strengthening and nourishing the teeth is but one reason for having chewy things like that for dinner every day; such things make a fellow's stomach and bowels work better, too, and make him grow healthy and strong and big.

Friday, May 1, 1896

Mrs. S. M. Orbison of Chicago was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. M. K. Gochnauer, for the summer.

A. C. Langstadt returned from LaCrosse, where he went on business connected with the firm of Langstadt & Croswell.

G. M. Lane of Chicago was in Appleton looking over the city with a view of establishing a tea, coffee and spice store here.

E. R. Theby opened a new barber shop at 830 College-ave. Peter Schrug was his assistant.

Miss Minnie Morrow was to succeed Miss Josie Malone as telephone operator at central station.

The No. 1 paper machine of the Grand Rapids Paper & Pulp Co., was in operation and it was expected the No. 2 machine would be started up a few days later.

H. E. Pomeroy secretary of the Appleton Cycling club, received entry blanks of the Milwaukee Memorial day road race.

John Bodine of the Wisconsin Telephone Co. left for his home in Hannibal, Mo., where he went to look after the sale of an automatic wire-coupling device which he invented and which was owned by himself and a local capitalist of that city.

The Fox River Valley Fair association purchased 11 acres of land from Herman Erb which was located immediately east of the grand stand which was to be used for "midway" purposes.

The old wooden store at the corner of Morrison-st. and College-ave. known as the Atkins block narrowly escaped being destroyed by fire. The building was soon to be torn down to make room for a new structure that was to be built by A. W. Patton.

The ushers selected for the morning service at the Congregational church were Peter Zonne, Jerome Shaylor, W. F. Starr, M. M. Valentine, John VanAlystine, Edward VanHeukion, C. H. Vogel and Rufus Wing.

Henry Louis, four year-old son of Mrs. F. Louis, injured himself by a fall on the sidewalk by striking his head on a stone step.

Pestering The President

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington, D. C.—President Harding is now getting his first tastes of those duties which contribute most to make a president's life a problem and a burden.

Haskin

During the past few weeks he agreed to become a member of a variety of national associations, religious, sporting and reforming. He accepted a bull pup, bought tickets for the daffodil ball for the benefit of a boys' swimming pool, posed for a statue and portrait sketch, and gave $50 toward Madame Curie's radium fund.

Refusals are, of course, more numerous than the acceptances. Limitations of time, money, and strength make it impossible for a president to do all the things the people want him to do. He must choose, in each instance, and whichever way he chooses, he cannot hope to please everybody.

This is the joker in the job of being chief executive of the United States. No doubt a good many of our presidents who cheerfully assumed the trials of signing bills and getting along with congress would have refused the position with dignity had they realized how many statues they would have to unveil with appropriate remarks, how many loyal voters would insist on wringing the president's hand, how many times they would have to stop and turn around in order to be photographed in characteristic poses.

These are the duties—left out of the consutution—which make being a president one of the most annoying jobs in the world.

Though the incumbent in office acquires great skill in meeting his obligations, for some reason he never writes a guide book for his successors. The value of a volume on "Things Every President Should Know," by one who has been there, would be incalculable. Aside from scattered letters and articles, no work of the sort has ever been issued.

As it is now, each executive and his family have to pioneer for themselves. And it is rocky ground. Everything they do becomes a precedent. To take an instance from Mrs. Harding's experience, a request came before inauguration for a small donation to be sold at a fair.

A Flood of Requests

"Don't do it," said a friend.

"O, I am glad to help," said Mrs. Harding.

The week after, she saw what the friend meant. Her mail brought over 3,000 requests for small donations which could be sold or auctioned off at big prices, as coming from the president-elect's wife. One handkerchief, such as she had sent the first time, meant one dollar. Three thousand handkerchiefs, all for worthy enough causes, would mean $3,000, not counting the wages of some one to buy the gifts, some one to wrap and address them and the cost of postage. You can figure for yourself that this is more than the president's weekly salary, and Mrs. Harding's pin money certainly could not cover such incidentals.

The trouble is that all the activities of a White House family are given publicity. To send a donation to a charity affair and request that no mention be made of the source would be to rob the gift of its attractiveness. The association with the White House is what the people want in such cases.

So the president and his wife have to pick and choose. It is hardest at first because the novelty of a new executive attracts an unusually large number of people with the "gimmies." If the president is cautious in the first weeks, he is not worried so much later, though there is scarcely a day when he does not receive an imposing collection of requests for gifts—autographs, invitations, photographs, and so on. The tide rises and falls to a large extent according to the president himself. If he becomes known as a joiner but not much of a giver, the mail brings more invitations to join and fewer requests for money.

President Harding we believe is not yet classified. He wants to be genial and reasonable and democratic, but he is already, no doubt, beginning to realize that his supply of these qualities is limited. No president has ever been able to meet more than a small fraction of the requests, and they are growing each term as there are more people to serve.

Thus, when the president agrees sociably to be honorable president of some organization which appeals to some hobby of his, he risks exposing himself to a deluge of invitations to join organizations he never heard of before. Such organizations are well aware that the president could not mingle with them at their Tuesday meetings. They fully appreciate the many demands on his time. But—they do think he could lend his name and drop in on state occasions, and if he refuses, however politely, there is sometimes resentment.

Is There a Remedy?

There have been bills in congress for the relief of every other sort of government ward, but the president has never had any assistance offered him in his difficulty. He has his secretaires and aides. Many of them, however, are political appointees and are as new to the business as their chief.

It is suggested that a special secretary might help matteres somewhat. He would have to stick close to the president on all occasions, something like the royal tasters at the tables of the old European kings, who protected the monarchs from poison, and his life would be worth about as much as theirs. His duties would be to cast the deciding vote in a tie as to whether the president should spend the evening at a musical comedy or adorn a benefit ball for Chinese babies.

The value of this attache would obviously increase with his years of service, which means that he would have to be a permanent fixture in the presidential menage. This is admittedly a serious obstacle. There have been White House emloyes who spent years of service there, but not in such positions of confidential association with the Executive.

The only suggestion so far put forward is that this attache would have to be a man of unbiased mind so far as political parties are concerned. Where this superman is to be caught is not clear. Perhaps the best plan would be to pick a candidate out of school somewhere, and bring him up in the White House atmosphere. While he was growing a beard and wrinkles, Congress would have time to talk over creating an office for him.

Later, understudies could be trained, and with an efficiency expert, a president's odd jobs could be reduced almost to a formula. A request from the town of Cobbles Corners asking the President to speak at the dedication of a fountain in the public square, when he made his next trip west, would be referred to the efficiency expert. He would consult the files on fountains and see what happened in instances when different Presidents officiated at the unveiling of fountains.

It would undoubtedly take time to develop this system, but in the long run, it would seem worth while, if it did, as the inventors claim it would, leave the President some time to

Q. Can old barrels be used for curing meat? H. B.

A. Molasses barrels or other strong hardwood barrels are satisfactory for curing meat. Stone jars are practical for small quantities of meat. Any container should be thoroughly cleaned and scalded before using.

Q. Was there ever a Christian religion that believed in daily baptism? A. L. S.

A. The Hemerobaptists were an early Christian sect which practiced daily ceremonial ablution. This name has also been applied to an ancient Jewish sect.

Q. Why is the suffix "anthes" added to the names of flowers, such as aeroanthes and zephranthes? R. I. S.

A. "Anthes is derived from a Greek word which means flower

Q. How high is the Eiffel Tower? H. C. D.

A. The Eiffel Tower, the highest structure in the world, is 1,060 feet in height.

Q. When did American agriculture reach its lowest point? K. A.

A. The decade ending with the year 1890 marked the "ebb tide" in American agriculture. It was at the end of this time that a change was made from a single crop system to diversified farming in many states.

Q. Is the discovery of a new planet of asteroid a rare occurrence? M. V.

A. The Naval Observatory says that the discovery of a new minor planet or an asteroid is of frequent occurrence.

Q. What is meerschaum and where does it come from? A. A.

A. Meerschaum is a fine, white, soft, claylike mineral, light enough to float on water when in dry masses. The meerschaum used in the manufacture of pipes and cigarette holders comes chiefly from Asia Minor.

Q. Is it true that at Fort Yukon, Alaska, the sun sets at mid-night, and rises immediately in mid-summer? J. R. L.

A. The Naval Observatory says Fort Yukon, Alaska, is situated very nearly on the Arctic Circle, and to an observer at that place at the time of the summer solstice (June 21) if there were no refraction, the sun would appear to descend until its center reached the horizon, and then rise again. Owing to the effect of refraction, however, the entire disk of the sun would be visible throughout the entire 24 hours, for several days before and after June 21.

Q. Can all the United States Mints coin money of all denominations? W. V. L.

A. All the mints are authorized to coin coins of all denominations

Q. What does Sans Souci mean? D. S. O.

A. Sans Souci means "without care" or "freedom from care" or "an informal assembly." "Sans Souci" was the name of a famous royal palace built in Potsdam, Prussia, by Frederick the Great.

Q. What is "Kings Silver?" A. P. E.

A. King's silver was an ancient fine paid to the Crown in the Court of Common pleas, in England, as an incident of the alienation of lands by the process known as levying a fine.

Q. What is the difference between a farce, a comedy and a farce comedy? A. R. B.

A. The difference between a comedy and a farce is chiefly in the plot. In a comedy the plot is subordinated to the characters while in a farce the working of the plat makes the characters what they are. "Farce comedy" is a vulgarism applied to nearly any type of light plays in which the comic situations go to preposterous lengths.

One or two of the members then went to the Droegkamp home and told the pastor he was wanted at the church to perform a marriage ceremony. He found the ceremony there when he arrived, but the marriage was lacking. A musical program was given, after which the Rev. C. F. Ann's "Goulash" Dance.

The next act of this bitter drama was staged in my own home. Bob was quite himself again, although a bit jumpy as to his nerves and subject to very bad headaches, but that made him the more dependent upon me and therefore I was perfectly happy. Happiness is largely a matter of contrasts, after all, and I had been so miserable away from Bob that I went the limit of my opportunity when I had him back again.

Martha said that I was spoiling him and that I ought to let him spoil me instead. Secretly I believed that I deserved to be petted a little, and perhaps I would have let Bob exert himself to please me if his poor head had improved faster.

Bob is tremendously fond of children. If we had a child of our own I am sure my dear husband and I never would have pulled so strenuously at our marital bonds. Bob would adore a son like little Lorrie Palmer, and he would adore his son's mother. Had he a nice little family, it would so fill his mind that there wouldn't be room in it for the image of the tawny-haired tiger girl whom I disliked so intensely.

Because we have no child of our own, we always do something spectacular to entertain our neighbor's babies at Christmas time. The Lorimer Christmas tree is famous and this year the guest of honor was little Lorrie. Evan came to the party with Martha and the boy. Lorrie's part in that eventful evening is unimportant except as it explains his father's presence in my house.

Ann was among those present, and dear Jimmy-boy. It was my handsome brother-in-law's first venture from his invalid chair. We made a great deal of it, told him how well he was looking, and in that we deceived each other as well as Jimmy.

His child-wife, Ann, took the middle of the stage at a bound, in her accustomed way. Even the immense Christmas tree with its glare of bright bulbs faded from our consciousness when Ann bounded into the room. Literally, she bounded.

She had not removed her rubber goloshes but had unfastened them and had turned down the tops and they looked like the clumsy boots sometimes worn in Russian ballets. Very cleverly Ann imitated a famous dancer's leap to the center of the stage, then she posed in the middle of the crowd, struck an attitude in which her awkward footgear was most conspicuous and declaimed:

"Goulashes!"

Of course we went off into a spasm of merriment.

"'Goulashes' it is! Sure thing! That's the popular pronunciation of the Yankee name! And this is the 'goulash' dance!"

George Schaefer of Greenville, was a visitor here Thursday.

Linen Shower

Miss Genevieve Beringer, 1264 Packard-st., entertained Thursday evening at a linen shower in honor of Miss Frances Suchy. Decorations were in trailing arbutus and crepe paper hearts. SALE GUERNSEYS ARE OF BEST TYPE

Herdsmen Are Consigning Animals With Proven Production Ability.

Studying the sale catalogue issued by the Fox River Valley Guernsey Breeders association, buyers will find listed many purebred Guernseys with high production records and excellent breeding. Some of the cows have advanced registry records, and others are from dams with A. R. records.

Next week a huge pavilion tent 40 by 70 feet will be erected on the Outagamie Equity exchange grounds to accommodate the crowds who attend the auction. Seats will be provided for several hundred and the sale will be staged no matter what the weather. The cabbage warehouse of the exchange will be converted into a barn where the animals may be seen before the auction. Local arrangements are in charge of Paul O. Nyhus, farm agent of the First National bank, who was appointed sales manager.

Some of the choice animals in the Guernsey herd owned by W. G. Jamison and sons, Greenville, are indicative of the type offered buyers of this and other counties. One of the cows has a yearly fat production record of 405 pounds, taken as a 2-year old heifer. One of the best bred bulls in the state is also consigned, from a dam which had a record of 580 pounds of fat as a 2-year old. This sire is described as a "splendid individual." There is also a 2-year old heifer bred to Pencoyd's Man of War. The dam of the latter sire is world champion of the Guernseys for fat production as a 2-year old.

Consignments by William Breitrick also are of particularly good type. One of the cows is from descendants which produced 487 pounds of fat in a year. There are also several heifers which are daughters of Heiress' King of the May. This sir is one of only three living sons of the noted Guernsey sire, Imported King of the May.

Many other animals of note are included in the consignments. They will provide farmers a chance to obtain real earners and foundation animals at a low price as a starter for profitable herds.

EVANGELIST HAS MESSAGE FOR MEN

Dr. John H. McCombe, evangelist, is to speak solely to men at a mass-meeting at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Lawrence Memorial chapel. His subject will be "The Sins of Men." It is described as the speaker's burning message to men, containing an appeal to live a better moral life.

Massmeetings for men held in other cities by Dr. McCombe are said to have attracted thousands, packing the auditoriums to standing room. His evening audiences are growing as more people learn of his speaking ability and the common sense nature of his sermons.

Plenty of novel and special musical features are promised the men by Harold C. Clase, song leader. A male chorus will lead the singing, and solos are to be presented.

Cards are being distributed in all factories, business houses, churches and on the streets inviting every man in Appleton to attend. They contain the expression, "If you're afraid of the cars stay home."

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles. adv.

Made a Hit With Him

"My wife has taken your medicine and has been wonderfully benefited. For over four years she has had trouble with bloating and could scarcely eat any food because of this condition. Doctor's medicines did not help her and an operation was advised. Her brother, who is a druggist, sent her a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and it helped her at once. I cannot praise your medicine enough." It is a simple, harmless for chafing, burns, scalds, cuts, bruisal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Druggists everywhere. adv.

CONVICT LEAPS FROM AUTOMOBILE

Man Arrested Through Efforts of John Wagner, Escapes From Officers.

Edward Larget, whose conviction was brought about through the efforts of John Wagner, superintendent of Outagamie County workhouse, after he had stolen nearly all of his sister's household goods which were stored in a Neenah building, has escaped from the convict camp at Taycheedah. He is 24 years old and was admitted to the honor camp three weeks ago. When captured, state officials assert, he will finish the remainder of his two year term at Waupun.

The workhouse superintendent was on his trail for about a week before causing his arrest. Much of his sister's property was recovered at his home at Oshkosh. Larget was lodged in the county jail, but escaped pending his trial. His cell was specially guarded upon his reincarceration.

Larget leaped from an automobile driven by Jack Kehoe, superintendent of the Taycheedah camp, while being conveyed from the state camp to the county jail at Fond du Lac.

Early at night Larget left the bunkhouse and stole down to the village of Taycheedah, a mile away, to meet his girl wife who had written him saying she was coming. Camp officials had received information that the girl was planning to meet her husband and were lying in wait when the two met on the lonely country road just outside of the village.

Larget and his wife were taken into custody and escorted back to the state camp. Upon instruction from the prison authorities Larget was being taken to the county jail when he made his escape.

WINS SECOND PRIZE IN AMATEUR CARTOON RACE

E. Carlton Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Nelson, 702 Lawe-st., won the second prize of $10 in an amateur artist contest conducted by Judge magazine. Given "wiggle-wobble" curves to follow, he produced a drawing of a chef flopping a griddle cake over the cook stove. Several hundred drawings were submitted, out of which the Appleton young man drew one of the best. Nelson is a student in Appleton high school.

SPEAKER TO TELL HOW TO BOOST CITY

Frank B. White Will Address Salesmen at Chamber of Commerce Banquet.

Traveling salesmen and chamber of commerce members who attend the forum banquet Friday evening, May 6, will have the privilege of hearing one of the leading speakers of the country on community building with the appearance here of Frank B. White, Chicago. He has spoken in all parts of the country for many years and consented to come here after considerable urging by Secretary Hugh G. Corbett.

Mr. White says the traveling salesman is a genuine missionary in the matter of community building, especially in his home town. There are many ways in which he can do his city constructive good, some of which the salesman does not realize until they are pointed out to him. The speaker has many practical suggestions "up his sleeve."

Approximately 100 salesmen will be guests of the chamber at the dinner. Officers of the United Commercial Travelers are urging their members to wind up their trips early next week so they can be in Appleton to attend the event. The U. C. T. will attempt to secure an attendance as close as possible to 100 per cent. Many other commercial men also are to be invited.

NO TRADE DEPRESSION IN PLANTS AT NICHOLS

One of the places where the business depression has had little or no effect is in the packing plants owned by A. L. Nichols at the village of Nichols. All departments are running with full crews with no indications of a slump. Wages have not been reduced and prosperity seems to be the rule.

"We are enjoying the best business in history," said Mr. Nichols. "Everything seems to be quiet around us, but our little village is a mighty active place these days."

AH! EPSOM SALTS LIKE LEMONADE

You can now buy real epsom salts without the awful taste and nausea, by asking your druggist for a dandy package of "Epsonade Salts" which looks and acts exactly like epsom salts, because it is pure epsom salts combined with fruit derivative salts, giving it the taste of sparkling lemonade.

Take a tablespoonful in a glass of cold water whenever you feel bilious, headachy or constipated. "Epsonade Salts" is the much talked of discovery of the American Epsom Association. adv.

SHOCK GOOD HEALTH TALK No. 17 by Chiropractor Rolfe

I received a letter from a reader of this paper asking me to explain my statements that the spine usually is affected in OVERDOING, or as he put it, "when the body receives a SHOCK."

For the sake of illustration I have a cut of a NORMAL SPINE. It is a side view of it and shows the NORMAL CURVES.

Some people imagine that the spine is supposed to be straight. But the truth is the opposite.

The spine SUPPORTS the BODY, so it has to assume curves corresponding to the shape of the body. For instance, in a person with a large abdomen the lower curve would have to be quite forward to take care of the extra weight. In a person with a very small abdomen that same curve would almost appear straight, as the weight would not be forward, as in stout people.

For another illustration we will imagine a pond.

What SUPPORTS the pond? Its banks.

Suppose the water got a SHOCK—a stone thrown in it, the ripples, would start to widen, and widen, until they reached the banks, then they would stop.

Do you see where the SHOCK stopped? It stopped at the SUPPORTING part of the pond.

So it happens with the body.

All SHOCKS that the body receives stop at the SUPPORTING part and that is the spine.

When your body receives a SHOCK, be it even a small one, the spine takes it up and in many cases it is permanently thrown "out of plumb."

And when that happens it puts pressure upon nerves causing disease.

The Chiropractor adjusts the spine to normal, freeing the nerves. See ROLFE today for Health.

"Morning, George! Let me try the Adlon."

"You're showing good smoke-judgment, You won't find a smoother, finer-flavored or more satisfying cigar than Adlon at any price."

"Why do you think so, George?"

"Well, for one thing, while Adlon is mild, yet it has a true, rich tobacco taste that stays from the moment you light it until you get clear down to the last puff.

"I've been in the cigar business nearly all my life—began at the cigar-maker's bench. You can take my word for it, Adlon is all cigar.

"Do you realize, for instance, it took 500 individual tests to create the Adlon blend? It's a fact! These tests covered a long study of all cultivations of tobacco.

"Why, the makers of Adlon went so far as to analyze the personal tastes and prejudices of thousands of cigar smokers, so they'd get a cigar that would please the most finicky smoker."

"What is the tobacco, George, in Adlon?"

"Adlon is a real Havana filler and fine Sumatra wrapper cigar—mild yet full-flavored, richly fragrant and blended right.

"Here is still another interesting point about the Adlon cigar.

"You won't find in Adlon any of the 'gums' that are common to most cigars and cause a disagreeable taste. No, sir! They're removed by an exclusive process and you can enjoy your Adlon as far down as you can retain a fingertip hold on it."

You can get Adlon—the best cigar you can buy—from any good dealer.

MAHMOUT AND GEORGE HILL WRESTLE HERE MAY 10

TERRIBLE TURK'S DEFI ACCEPTED BY LOCAL GRAPPLER

Hill Will Come Back to Appleton to Meet Star in Finish Match.

Yussif Mahmout, the Terrible Turk, and George Hill, champion of Wisconsin, will wrestle in Armory G Tuesday evening, May 10, best two of three falls to a finish.

This announcement of unusual interest to wrestling fans of the Fox river valley was made Friday morning by Elmer Johnston, matchmaker for the Midwest Athletic club which is promoting the show. Final arrangements with Hill for the bout were completed Thursday.

Hill was a vastly disappointed man when Mahmout failed to appear for the match scheduled for April 20. He had been training hard and was in the best possible condition for the fray. He abandoned all hope of meeting the Turk this season and left immediately after the Hassan fight for Gary, Ind., to join his carnival company.

Mahmout, however, was about as disappointed as Hill because of his inability to fill his engagement, according to word from Chicago. The Turk fretted and declared he would be willing to meet the local man as soon as he could get in condition. About a week ago he sugested May 10 or 11 as a date for the match and Johnston immediately got in touch with Hill and completed arrangements.

Mahmout has posted a forfeit to insure his presence in Appleton. This was not required the last time but he would have forefeited it if he had posted the money because he was in no condition either to wrestle or to travel. Hill visited him in Chicago and found him to be in bad shape.

Joe Coffey, Chicago matchmaker, is partly responsible for making the match. He believes Hill is one of the greatest wrestlers in the world and is anxious to match him with a real topnotcher to test his mettle. He will be here to see the bout.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

There must be something wrong with Appleton bowlers. In a tournament staged on their own alleys and with their own supporters on hand to spur them on to greater efforts, they permit a bunch of rank outsiders to come here and romp off with the major portion of the prize money in the Arcade bowling tournament. It has been a long time since Appleton pinmen have copped any prizes of consequence and it behooves them to get busy and make a better showing next year.

Listen, you old-timers! The sporting editor of the Post-Crescent wants to print your recollections of baseball players and games in the days when most of us younger chaps were wearing knickerbockers. The growing generation likes to read about the old time stars and your older friends will be interested in your tales of ancient prowess. Take a few minutes off and put your recollections on paper and send them to this office for publication.

Johnny Evers and his Chicago Cubs aren't rubbing elbows with Dame Fortune these days and hopes of a National league pennant in the Windy City have practically gone up in smoke. The three big aces of Evers' pitching staff, Alexander, Tyler, and Vaughn have failed to produce and the recruit box artists haven't as yet got over their stage fright. If the Big Three don't come back to form, its hard to figure the cubs anywhere except in a second division berth.

Jack Dempsey has finally got down to work. The title holder has quit the stage and has started conditioning for the clash with Carpentier. It's about time. It appears to us as if the champion and his talkative manager, Jack Kearns, look upon the fight with the Frenchman as something of a joke. They may be on the right track but we've got a hunch "Frog" from Paris may put up a much tougher scrap than a lot of the wise birds expect.

The boxing game in Janesville got a black eye right off the bat: The scrap between Kid Schlaifer and Johnny Lewis, welterweights, was called a frame up by Referee Steinauer and he chased the boxers out of the ring. It is said both fighters stalled continually and neither of 'em tried to put over a K. O. wallop. Unless we miss our guess, the Wisconsin boxing commission will keep them out of Badger rings for a long, long time.

This is the day that they're off at Philly. Pennsylvania's twenty-seventh annual relay carnival is under way. It's a two day affair and seventy-seven events are carded on the program. The cream of the nation's athletes as well as stars from Canada, France, and Cuba are competing and it wouldn't be surprising if a dozen or so new speed marks were established before the curtain is pulled down.

BRANDT FINISHES JOB OF SELECTING VALLEY BALL TEAM

Fox River Leaguers Will Make Their Debut With Winnipeg Here Sunday.

HOW THEY WILL START

Spies, manager and shortstop; Bayers, second base; "Shorty" Bayer, third base; Priebe, left field; Woods, first base; Krasnicky, center field; Murphy, right field; O'Connor, catcher; Schultz, pitcher.

That is the team Magnate August Brandt will send against the Winnipeg team of the Canadian league in the opening game of the season in Brandt park Sunday afternoon. Brandt completed his selection this week and contracts have been returned by all the players. He has several men on his reserve list who may be given a trial in Sunday's game.

Winnipeg is coming here with an imposing record of early season victories. Owner Charlie Moll, well known in Appleton, sent his team into southern Wisconsin for spring training and as a result the men are in good condition.

Despite unfavorable weather, most of the Appleton boys are in good shape. Hank Schultz, the noted spit ball hurler, has given his arm several good workouts and reports himself in the best of condition and eager to start. His battery partner, O'Connor, also is set to go.

Three new faces will be seen on the diamond when the game starts. Woods, a Wausau lad, will work on the initial sack, taking the place of "Dutch" Sylvester, who is managing the Kimberly tribe this year. Krasnicky, formerly with Kimberly, will cavort in center field and "Shorty" Bayer, who has played with a lot of semi-pro teams here will cover the hot corner.

The park will be in fair condition for the opening fray it was said. This will be the first opportunity Appleton fans have of seeing the team in action and a large crowd is expected at the game.

NEGRO BOXERS WILL HELP TRAIN DEMPSEY

Champion Engages Squad of Dusky Maulers to Help Put Him in Condition.

While Jack Dempsey golfs and rests at Summit, N. J., his manager, Jack Kearns, is collecting a flock of sparring partners to train the champ.

Most of them will be colored.

Offers have been made to Kid Norfolk, Harry Wills and Jamaica Kid.

Negro boxers seem to be the only bruisers able to stand the gaff in Dempsey's training rings.

And for the Carpentier fight Dempsey wants boxers—not punching bags.

The Jamaica Kid and Bill Tate absorbed most of Dempsey's punches at Toledo when he was getting ready to topple Jess Willard.

The dusky fighters will collect big money for their services.

It is worth all they'll receive to stick in the ring with the Utah mauler day in and day out during the long grind.

Over at Manhasset Farm, where Georges Carpentier will get in shape, Joe Jeanette, another negro star of the yesterdays, will have charge of all the Frenchmans training.

He will be assisted by Willie Lewis, the man who has developed Carpentier since the beginning of his ring career.

When Lewis was in Paris some years ago he encouraged Carpentier, a boy then, to make boxing his profession.

Dempsey plans to do all his training outdoors.

He got results in the open air training at Toledo so he knows its merits.

When he trained for the Bill Brennan match he worked indoors. The close shave he had with his title with big Bill taught him a lesson.

Manager Kearns plans to have Dempsey put on the finishing touches over in Atlantic City.

The public will be allowed to see the champ in action at a nominal fee.

A small harvest will be reaped from the curious fight fans who'll flock to the seashore resort.

HOTEL APPLETONS WIN $15 IN TOURNAMENT

The Hotel Appleton bowling team won $15 in prize money at the Fox river valley bowling tournament on Noidls alleys in Green Bay. The local squad won sixth place in the 5-man events with a score of 2,763. Excel Candies of Fond du Lac, with a score of 2,902, won first place and $60.

About $600 in prize money was distributed. No Appleton players figured in the singles or doubles prize winners.

PHILS WHIP BRAVES

Philadelphia—Three home runs, two of them by Ralph Miller and Pitcher Meadows with the bases filled, gave Philadelphia a 11 to 6 victory on Thursday, and an even break in the four game series with Boston. Williams got a home run in the third with the bases empty.

Wrist Hitter Is Babe's Rival

George Kelly and His Wrist Snap With Which He Busts Homers

KELLY'S 1920 RECORD

George Kelly, as rookie first baseman for the Giants, hit .266 and fielded .944. Of his 157 hits he made them count for a total of 234 bases. He drove out 11 home runs, 11 three-base hits and 22 two-baggers.

As a fielder Kelly was the second best first baseman in the National League. He had the greatest number of putouts, 1759; the most assists, 103, and the most total chances, 1873.

George Kelly, lanky first baseman of the New York Giants and a home run rival of Babe Ruth, is a wrist hitter.

He hits the ball with a snap. It travels a mile.

The bat he uses is as slim as a toothpick.

Kelly's secret is timing the wood with the ball.

With Ruth and Bob Meusel of the Yanks, the Giant first baseman is one of the longest hitters the game ever had.

His style of hitting homers is different from either Ruth's or Meusel's. Ruth combines the wrist snap with the killing body swing.

Meusel is an arm hitter. That is, he gets the power which he puts behind his bat with his long, powerful arms.

While Ruth's style is more spectacular Kelly is getting just as good results.

He hits to both right and left field. He has the advantage of being able to cross up the fielders and drive the ball where they're not expecting it to go.

Although talk of the livelier ball has died down this spring, there is a larger crop of distance smashers.

Hitting homers isn't due to the ball. It's the man who hits it.

Kelly takes a peculiar position at bat. His long legs are far apart.

Fans used to call him awkward before he blossomed into a star.

John McGraw doesn't care how the California youth stands so long as he cracks the pellet.

Kelly is a curious chap. Off the ball field he is so quiet and retiring that a half dozen words from him is an oration.

On the diamond he becomes a chatter-box. None of them have anything on Lanky George for displaying baseball pep.

He doesn't take advantage of the limelight which his spectacular hitting and fielding has given him.

When the cheering fans rise to give him an ovation he rushes to cover without doffing his cap.

He blushes like a bashful boy.

Perhaps Kelly will some day learn to know the theatrical value of recognizing the applause which fans love so well to give a baseball hero.

The more popular a ball player becomes the bigger drawing card he becomes.

EIGHTH STRAIGHT WIN FOR BROOKLYN'S DODGERS

Brooklyn—Brooklyn made only four hits off Ryan and Sallee on Thursday, but bunched three of them off Ryan in the lucky seventh, winning their eighth straight victory and their fourth from New York. RED SOX WIN AGAIN

Boston.—Perry weakened in the fourth inning on Thursday, Boston making three runs and eventually winning from Philadelphia 6 to 2. Myers capably pitched the rest of the game and held Philadelphia.

Boston	1	0	0	3	0	0	2	0	*—6

PICK OF AMERICAN COLLEGE STARS AT PHILADELPHIA MEET

By Henry L. Farrell

By United Press Leased Wire

Philadelphia, Pa.—Philadelphia presented Friday an American edition of the Olympic games.

Three thousand American athletes from five hundred schools and colleges and a sextet of France's best athletes were on hand for the Penn relays.

Thirty-one members of Uncle Sam's Olympic team were on the program. Three Olympic champions were carded as one of the many features for two days of gala sport starting this afternoon on Franklin field.

A heavy mist was falling this morning and should it continue through the day, the athletes will have to perform this afternoon on a heavy track.

Allen Woodring, the Syracuse sprinter who beat Charley Paddock in the 200 meters at Antwerp, Charles Thompson, Dartmouth, holder of the world's records for the hurdles and Dick Landon, Yale, who set a new Olympic record for the high jump, were the headliners.

Other star members of the Olympic team to compete were Earl Eby, Pennsylvania; Harold Barron, Penn state, who was on Thompson's heels in the hurdles; Frank Shea of Pittsburgh, who placed in the quarter mile; Jenne, the Washington pole vaulter; Eddie Curtis, the Navy miler, and Bob Le Gendre, former all around champion of Georgetown.

The feature events of Friday's program start with the American college sprint medley race in which are entered Lafayette, Ohio State, Nebraska, Penn State, Maine, Carnegie, University of Paris, Missouri, Kansas Aggies, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Chicago, Georgetown, Minnesota and Princeton.

The two mile championship starting at 4:30 will be a battle between Grover Nightengale, West Virginia, winner of the three mile race last year; Romig, of Penn State; Berna, Cornell, and Higgins of Columbia.

In the American championship distance medley relay race at 5:10, the crown will be fought for between Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Iowa State, Illinois, Syracuse, Delaware, Pittsburgh, Ohio State, Princeton, Columbia, Georgetown, Kansas Aggies, Yale, Penn State and the Navy.

Special events include the throwing of the 56 pound weight at 3 o'clock and the running, hop, step and jump at 3:40 o'clock.

OFFER PRIZES FOR BEAUTIFUL GROUNDS

Annual Pick-It-Up Week Will Be Observed Here Beginning Next Monday.

The city beautiful committee of Appleton Womans club is offering prizes amounting to $10 to children beautifying their own grounds according to stipulated landscape principles. The contest is in connection with the annual Pick-It-Up week which begins May 1.

Prizes of $5 , $3 and $2 will be given. The principles to be observed are as follows:

Mass planting, curved lines, open centers, free parking. Shrubs and trees, sumac, lilac, and willows make good screens for unsightly barns. Blue and red flowers cannot be planted together but may be separated with white, purple and yellow. Blue and yellow may be used together but red and pink cannot be planted together.

Flowers are to be used around the buildings, around borders and in front of shrubs. Perennials which the committee has recommended for the use of the children are peonies, iris, phlox, hollyhocks, larkspur and tiger lily.

Shrubs which are good to use are bridal wreath, honeysuckle, lilac, dogwood, elderberry, bushwillow, weigelia (pink or red,) snowberry and hydrangea.

The commtitee is emphasizing the fact that back yards can be made as attractive as front yards. A good example of correct planting may be seen at the Fox River Paper Co.'s office grounds.

Children who wish to enter the contest must see Miss Jean Jackson, Lincoln school, at 4 oclock Tuesday afternoon.

"Pick-It-Up tags will be distributed to the children Friday ready to start the campaign Monday. The committee hopes that all older citizens as well as the school children will take for their second slogan, "Keep it picked up."

The grounds of the Lincoln school have been kept in splendid condition by a council of children appointed a year ago. The council has done such efficient work that very little remains to be done to put the grounds in the front rank of clean school yards. This council consists of ten children who exercise constant supervision and hold the rest to their purpose. They report that most of the trouble comes, not from the school children, who take great pride in their yard, but from the adult loiterers who scatter cigarette boxes, paper bags and even bottles on the grounds.

WHOLESALER HAS PUT PRICES DOWN

Harry J. Ingold Gives Comparisons Which Indicate Drop in Staples.

Wholesale prices of groceries are much lower than in 1920 and in some instances have dropped nearly 100 per cent. This is welcome news to the consumer, who is feeling the pinch of hard times and has been wondering when all the talk of lower prices would reach the point where inroads on the pocketbook would not be felt so keenly.

Some comparisons given out by Harry Ingold, president of S. C. Shannon company, wholesale grocers, give an idea how price adjustments affect staples. These reductions should be reflected in about the same proportions in the retail stores:

	1920	1921

Fancy coffee, lb.	.50	.36
Rolled oats, lb.	.06	.03½

WILL SHOW HOG EXHIBIT AT MONTHLY STOCK FAIR

Preparations were being completed Friday for the hog exposition to be conducted in connection with the stock market fair Saturday by Prof. Milton H. Scott, Madison, hog expert of the college of agriculture.

A number of farmers are planning to attend the demonstration, intent on learning the situation in the hog market as Prof. Scott will point it out by means of charts, and descriptive literature. Several live hogs of different breeds and types will be shown. The instructor will review the situation by which the land market has been affected so as to make large type hogs more profitable, rather than those which grow large amount of fat.

War Veterans Approve Tree Memorials Plan

Oney Johnston Post to Consider Planting a Tree for Every Service Man.

American Forestry association, federal officials and members of patriotic organizations throughout the country have indorsed the tree memorial movement which suggests the planting along transcontinental highways or roads leading out of cities of a tree for each man who served in the World war. The matter will be brought before the Oney Johnston post of the American legion for action and it is expected that women's patriotic societies also will act on the project.

Memorial rows have already been planted by a number of American cities, including some in Wisconsin, on a small scale. Under the new plan those efforts would be combined and the movement made nationwide. Appleton will be one of the first cities to take part if the project receives the indorsement of all the local patriotic associations.

"It is a wonderful idea," said Attorney L. Hugo Keller, adjutant of the Oney Johnston post. "This movement shoudd receive the support of every patriotic association as well as every citizen in the state. I believe Yellowstone trail would be an appropriate highway for this memorial. It is the most popular highway passing through Wisconsin and many out of town tourists would see these trees. It would also beautify the road. The movement should be a national one as it would be a lasting memorial."

"This is one of the best memorial movements I have ever heard of," said Herbert Farrand of Farrand and Bauerfeind clothing company. "The country is in need of trees and this will serve two purposes. It will be that of a memorial and the planting of more trees. It is a worthy tribute and should be indorsed by every American. One of the best roads to start this project would be the road between Appleton and Green Bay. This road is used by more autoists than any other road leading into the city."

"The movement ought to receive immediate action," said W. A. Zilske of the Continental clothing company. "While every one is interested, action should be started before the idea begins to wane. Any road leading out of Appleton could be made attractive by this plan and a better memorial could not be suggested."

"The idea is a fine one," said N. C. Schommer of the N. C. Schommer Furniture company. "If Appleton had a long stretch of boulevard this memorial movement could be carried out very effectively right in the heart of the city. The Second-ave. road to Kimberly would be a very favorable road for these trees."

Marinette Soy Beans
Grown in Cloverland

NORTHERN farmers should pay more attention to this valuable crop. Soy Beans planted on our new, rich lands produce enormous quantities of most excellent hay. They give you a concentrated feed, almost equal to alfalfa in value. You will find them in the same class with linseed meal and cottonseed meal as feed for cattle, sheep and hogs. They grow easily and quickly here in the North, and for that reason make a good catch crop.

If your land happens to be poor, remember that soy beans enrich the soil by taking large quantities of nitrogen from the air and storing it in the plant roots. Early Black and Ito San varieties are most highly recommended. We can always supply cultures for inoculating at reasonable prices.

Plans for the proposed addition to Elk club building have been received by Daniel P. Steinberg, exalted ruler, from F. B. Funston, Racine, the architect who prepared the plans for the present structure. The designs will be examined by the building committee and trustees within a day or two and some action suggested. The drawings provide for a 2-story addition and basement similar to the present clubhouse, including four bowling alleys, more game rooms, small dining rooms or parlors on the second floor and more hall space.

HURRY UP DELIVERIES GET DRIVERS IN BAD

Complaints are constantly being made to the police department and to Judge A. M. Spencer that delivery boys for grocery stores and meat markets are continually exceeding the speed limit and driving in a reckless and careless manner. Since the fatal accident at the corner College-ave. and Appleton-st. the officers and the court have determined that the violator of the speed law in the future is to be severely punished. The officers appreciate the boys are sent out in a hurry, but this does not justify the violation of the law and the reckless driving. A second offense will mean a jail sentence.

ARTIST SERIES TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING THURSDAY

New officers for Appleton Community Artist and Lecture series will be elected at a meeting of the directors in the Y. M. C. A. at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. One of the principal tasks will be a selection of a successor to H. B. Frame who has had charge of the ticket sales and arrangements for the concert during the last year.

The program for the course has been arranged and a description will be found elsewhere in this paper.

180 A TDINNER FOR BUSINESS WOMEN

Interesting Program Is Presented at Meeting in First Methodist Church.

About 180 business and professional women attended the second of a series of business women's suppers Thursday evening in First Methodist church. The people were divided into 12 groups representing 12 months. Stunts were given during the supper. As each stunt was given, the other groups guessed what month the stunt was to represent.

Miss Vera Chamberlain of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music gave a group of humorous readings. Mrs. Roberts of the McCombe-Clase party talked on the "Ideal Women." She said that the ideal woman would develop her intellectual, physical, social and spiritual sides in order to be four square. The girl who only develops her intellectual side is naturally lopsided. Each side of our character must receive its proper care and attention.

Mrs. Roberts said that no one could be truly successful without having a strong body. One could not enjoy success if it did come if the body was weak. She emphasized the necessity for reading good books and discarding the yellow back novels.

She said that girls in order to be social successes must be optimistic because nobody likes a pessimist or a grouch. "Keep sweet, look sweet and act sweet."

Miss Inez Burhans who recently submitted to an operation in St. Elizabeth hospital, has been removed to her home on Lincoln st.

The part of Olivia Dangerfield, who masquerades as Jane Ellen, the cook is being taken by Gladys Bagg, daughter of Prof. R. M. Bagg. Prof. F. W. Orr is coaching the play.

VALLEY PRINTERS TO MEET IN GREEN BAY

Three delegates will represent the Appleton typographical union at the Wisconsin Typographical conference in Green Bay Sunday afternoon. They are John Kendall, Kaukauna, president of the local union; Ben LeRoy, Neenah, and A. A. Anderson, Appleton. The meeting will be held in the courthouse. Mayor Wiesner and Councilman Cartier are to be among the speakers.

At a meeting of the Fox River Valley Typothetae at Manitowoc last Tuesday, employing printers of the valley went on record as opposed to the 44-hour week which is the principal contention of the typographical union. Several Appleton men attended the meeting. It was said all members of the organization agreed not to sign the contracts containing a 44-hour week clause.

POSTPONE FIRST GAMES OF GRADE SCHOOL LEAGUE

The rainy weather caused a shift in the schedule of the grade school baseball league. The series, instead of beginning last Tuesday, will begin next Tuesday, and following that, in order, the games will be played one week later than scheduled. That plan was adopted in preference to postponing the first games of the schedule.

Mrs. J. Sovinski of Menasha, visited friends here Thursday.

The New Warner Corselette

The Warner Corselette combines a bandeau, an abdominal confiner and four hose supporters, in such a way as to give an unbroken line from shoulder to knee.
